

Treasure Island Responsible Gaming Policy

Treasure Island is committed to promoting public awareness and education, and to providing information on available resources to those patrons who believe they may have a gambling problem. Treasure Island adheres to the American Gaming Association (AGA) Code of Conduct for Responsible Gaming and has always taken steps to promote responsible gaming. If you wish to view a full copy of the AGA Code of Conduct for Responsible Gaming, visit the AGA website at www.americangaming.org.

Treasure Island maintains a program in compliance with Nevada Gaming Regulation 5.170 that allows our patrons to voluntarily self-exclude themselves from certain activities and privileges, which are provided as a service and convenience to our patrons. If you wish to find out information about this Self-Exclusion Program, please contact a Casino Credit Manager.

Treasure Island is fully committed to the highest level of ethical and responsible policies and procedures in our gaming practices. To promote responsible gaming, Treasure Island will continue to:

- Educate our employees through a variety of programs and methods on responsible gaming policies and procedures
- Provide information to our employees about resources for assistance with problem gaming
- Provide information to our patrons, through a variety of methods both at our casinos and on our websites, about responsible gaming, win-loss odds on casino games and resources for assistance with problem gaming
- Provide our patrons who feel they may have a problem the option of enrolling in our Self-Exclusion Program, which will cancel their access to our promotional mailings and casino services such as credit and check-cashing for as long a time period as they desire
- Serve alcoholic beverages responsibly
- Monitor vigilantly to prevent underage gambling and unattended minors in our casinos
- Advertise responsibly
